The field of dermatology studies, diagnoses, and treats conditions of the skin. Your skin is the largest organ of your body, and it constantly changes as you get older. Although external factors like the sun can damage the skin, there are many skin conditions that may develop internally as well. Experts of dermatology may have different focuses within the care they provide, such as managing chronic conditions like skin cancer or treating and curing wounds. For elderly patients with abnormal skin spots, lesions, or hematoma, dermatologists provide detailed care plans to improve their overall life quality.

Our certified & licensed dermatologist is an expert on all skin conditions. They have the ability to provide diagnoses and treatments based on a patient's specific condition(s) by tailoring a custom care plan for them, including any necessary medications and surgeries. Our dermatologist can treat and manage life-threatening conditions like skin cancer (which affects one out of every five people within their lifetime), as well as other chronic conditions like psoriasis or chronic hematoma. Elderly patients require a specialist for most skin-related issues: primary care providers will sometimes overlook important steps in treating these conditions.

At MMA, we go the extra mile to create a friendly and comfortable environment for you and your family. Our ever-growing network of medical professionals will give full attention to the care that we know you and your family deserve.
